Welcome to Dragvoll!
A guide for international students at The Faculty of Humanities and The Faculty of Social Sciences and Technology Management
Welcome to our international students!

Welcome to our two faculties at Dragvoll campus: the Faculty of Social Sciences and Technology Management and the Faculty of Humanities.

Our faculties offer a complete range of studies, starting with courses for exchange students at the BA level, progressing to international master’s programmes, doctoral programmes and research opportunities that cover a wide range of disciplines.

Both faculties have strong international connections and master students from different parts of the world study here. An international orientation is one of the declared aims of both faculties, and we are proud to attract a diversified student body from a variety of countries and cultures.

You now belong to an academic environment where new ideas are advanced and enduring knowledge promoted. You are expected to participate, to take the opportunity to gather new knowledge and engage in discussions and debates. Your fellow students also invite you to participate in a wide range of student activities.

We hope you will find time to get to know Trondheim and the environment, and enjoy your stay here. You are most welcome.

Sincerely,
Jan Morten Dyrstad

Course information in English

The English Course Catalogue is presented in English and contains course descriptions of the courses on offer at NTNU. The catalogue can be accessed at www.ntnu.edu/studies/courses. This course catalogue is especially relevant for exchange students. Most of the course descriptions contain information about language of instruction.

Timetable

for each course contains information on the time and location for lectures, seminars and group sessions:
www.ntnu.no/studieinformasjon/timeplan/

Examinations

Information about examinations at NTNU is available on www.ntnu.edu/studies/grading_credits_exams. Please make sure that you read the information about regulations, instructions for exam candidates, information about handling of cases of cheating or misconduct and about complaints about grades and examinations.

Exchange students must note that they should check the exam dates for their courses before registering for the exams as it is not possible to sit for two written exams on the same day.

Reading lists

are available at TAPIR bookshop (hard copies) or they can be accessed here:
www.ntnu.no/svt/pensumlister
Course registration

Exchange students
NTNU offers a wide range of courses taught in English from which visiting and exchange students can choose. The list of courses includes courses from all faculties and covers a broad spectrum of disciplines. Once you have arrived in Trondheim you must register for the course and exam on-line using studentweb: www.ntnu.edu/studies/international/registration

The deadlines for registration are 15. September and 15. February. Please note that registering for courses and exams are compulsory, even if you have been pre-approved for your courses before arriving in Trondheim.

It is possible to change your plan of study after arriving. Contact the International Office for information about how to do this, or consult the following website: www.ntnu.edu/studies/international/registration

International master programme students
Students who are admitted to an international master programme (not exchange students) must register their individual education plan at studentweb www.ntnu.edu/studies/studentweb. The individual education plan is a contract between you and NTNU and indicates when you plan to take the courses that are part of your selected study programme.

The education plan is also used to register for your exams. The individual education plan must be updated every semester and deadline for registration is 15. September (autumn) and 15. February (spring).

If you need help with your education plan, please contact utdanningsplaner@svt.ntnu.no
Students at the Faculty of Humanities can contact their department, or send an e-mail to international@hf.ntnu.no.
