

Young Forum Mentorship Program

Dear ESMAC enthusiast!

Based on the success and positive feedback of last year's Young Forum Mentorship Program we would like to offer this program to all the ESMAC Meeting participants.

The Young Forum Mentorship Program provides young researchers with the opportunity to meet and consult with senior members of the society who may then serve as mentors. For senior researchers, this is an opportunity to share ideas and get to know up and coming researchers in the field. Mentor and mentee are encouraged to share knowledge, skills, advice and experiences. The mentors are able to give a unique perspective, different from that of a supervisor, and are able to remain mentors in the years to come.

By signing up to the program, we will help assign the optimal mentor to mentee and help arrange a first meeting during this year's conference in Trondheim.

If you are interested to participate in the program, either as a mentee or as a mentor, please email the following information by August 16th to mentorship@esmac.org:

- i. Name and institution
- ii. Potential mentor, or mentee
- iii. Primary research interests (brief summary)
- iv. Current position, field, and professional goals
