Green Office: Announcement

Are you a student interested in sustainability? Join the team

NTNU aims to strengthen its role as a driving force and cooperation partner for sustainable societal development. This also includes being a role model for sustainability in its own operations.

In Autumn 2025, NTNU launched a pilot project in Trondheim called Green Office, which is run by students. The goal is to support NTNU in its efforts to achieve its sustainability goals within education, research, operations, and priority areas in NTNU's Environmental Action Plan (in Norwegian). From 2026, the project is planned to expand to Gjøvik and Ålesund.

Green Office is part of The Green Office Movement and collaborates with similar initiatives both in Norway and internationally. Green Office at the University of Oslo is an important actor in this work in Norway.

Green Office at NTNU is a meeting point for students and staff who have ideas and suggestions on how NTNU can become more sustainable as a place to study and work.

Staff at the office will initiate activities and projects that promote climate and environmental efforts at NTNU. In everyday work, the office will act as a link between student organizations, elected representatives, and other interested parties. It will contribute to better collaboration between students and staff on sustainability.

Green Office is a place where everyone can stop by for a cup of coffee and discuss sustainability at NTNU.

Are you passionate about sustainability?

Would you like to help develop Green Office at NTNU? Now is your chance!

We are looking for students who want to be part of the team making sustainability a natural part of NTNU's operations, research, and education. We are hiring the following positions with start-up in Autumn 2026:

- One student assistant (40%) as team leader, responsible for coordinating the team's daily work, based in Trondheim (open to part-time students)
- Two student assistants (15%) based in Trondheim
- Two student assistants (15%) based in Gjøvik
- Two student assistants (15%) based in Ålesund

What does the job involve?

At Green Office, you will help develop and carry out projects and initiatives that promote environmental sustainability at NTNU. You will have an active role in creating positive changes on campus. This is a creative and developmental job together with other engaged students. You will gain opportunities for academic development and network building at NTNU, and with other educational institutions.

Tasks

- Initiate, coordinate, and organize activities, projects, campaigns, and events
- Follow up on ideas and suggestions from students and staff
- Act as a link and invite student organizations to participate in activities
- Share information about sustainability work at NTNU on websites, social media, and through newsletters
- Participate in national networks for green offices in the university and college sector, and collaborate on joint campaigns and projects

We are looking for someone who

- Has a strong commitment to sustainability and environmental issues
- Is a good communicator, both orally and in writing
- Takes initiative, enjoys organizing, and can work independently
- Is a team player and enjoys collaborating with others
- Preferably has experience with project work (not a requirement)

To apply, you must

- Be a registered NTNU student with at least one year remaining of your studies
- Have a good command of Norwegian and English, both written and spoken

We offer

- A 15–40% student assistant position
- Hourly rates are NOK 196 (bachelor) / NOK 199 (master) for team members, and NOK 203 for the team leader. Rates are valid as of 30 April 2026
- Working hours at the office between 10.00 and 14.00, Monday to Friday
- A flexible position with the opportunity to influence your own working day
- Start-up in August 2026

How to apply

Send us a short application letter (maximum one page) and CV where you explain:

- Why you want to work at Green Office
- Which sustainability areas you are most interested in
- Why you are suited for the position
- Please state whether you are also applying for the team leader position

Important dates

- Application deadline: 1 June 2026
- You will receive a response to your application during week 23
- Interviews will be conducted in weeks 24/25
- Planned start-up in week 34
