

CRITICAL POINT DRYER

Modell/type: Polaron

Acquired in 1978 (1 unit)

Bulk biological specimen (along with hydrated materials) must be dried rapidly, without introducing artefacts, before they can be imaged in a SEM. The critical point dryer is the most efficient instrument for quickly drying specimens without the shrinking or cracking that accompanies other methods.

