

Course description in the individual study syllabus for PhD candidates

An Individual Study Syllabus can be approved in the plan for academic training for PhD, as a part of the 10 credits not included in the established PhD level courses.

An Individual Study Syllabus should have a minimum of 3 credits (50 pages equals 1 credit), and should not overlap with existing courses.

The Syllabus must be on a PhD-level and should be within the Professor`s subject area.

The Syllabus is to be approved by the PhD programme board well before the planned examination.

The course is prepared for PhD candidate:
