About ECCM22

1,800+ abstracts submitted • 1,600+ expected attendees • 50+ countries • A new ECCM record

- ECCM conference is the oldest and largest conference in composite materials worldwide, with over 40 years of legacy. The 1st ECCM was held in Bordeaux in September 1985. Since then, 21 conferences have been organized, and ECCM has become one of the most important events dedicated to composite materials for academia and industry. Organized biannually under the patronage of the ESCM, it attracts more than 1000 participants from all over the world.
- The 22nd European Conference on Composite Materials (ECCM22) will be held for the first time in Norway — hosted in the vibrant heart of Oslo, during 21–25 June 2026.
- ECCM22 is organised by ASEMlab at NTNU, under the patronage of the European Society of Composite Materials (ESCM).
- The 2026 edition will spotlight sustainability, disruptive technologies, and emerging applications in aerospace, automotive, energy, maritime, infrastructure, and sports.
- Key themes include green materials, recycling, advanced modelling, digital innovations and AI-assisted technologies, process monitoring, innovative characterisation methods, functional materials, and novel sensors.
- ECCM22 is renowned for its dynamic networking environment, making full use of Oslo's role as a Scandinavian hub for materials research and innovation.
